

What kind of additional documents do I need?

Immigration law is complex! Before advocates, attorneys, or representatives can help with benefits or give advice, they need to know all about a person's immigration and criminal history. Sometimes, this means having multiple follow-up meetings because people don't have all the right documents, like a complete A-file and relevant criminal history. It can lead to lost time and money! Let's navigate our options using this cause-and-effect flowchart.
